KAMEHAMEHA AT ST. LOUIS

Will Have Exhibit All Their Own.

Commencement Program Given at Bishop Chapel.

Ten boys Finish Course and One Tells What School Will Do at Fair.

The boys of the Kamehameha School had their inning last evening at Bishop Chapel. There are ten graduates, and all those given the opportunity acquitted themselves well at the twelfth annual commencement exercises.

The essay of chief interest was that of Stephen L. Desha who spoke on "Kamehameha at the St. Louis Exposition." He told what the boys of the school intended to do at the fair, and if the promises given in his well-written essay of last evening are carried out, Hawaii will have at least one exhibit at the Exposition of which it need not be ashamed. The exposition was valuable, he said, in that it was of educational worth. It gave one a chance to see things, which could be otherwise obtained only by long and expensive travel. Also the fair was a great advertising medium, and Mr. Desha suggested that Kamehameha could profit much by adopting some of the features to be found at the fair.

He said further that Kamehameha would be represented in all her departments, there would be an exhibition of the shop work, of the collegiate department in essays on Hawaiian life, with incidents of the life of Kamehameha, the Hawaiian Bill of Rights, the Taro plant, etc. There would also be papers on the agricultural life of the islands, an interesting exhibit of the tailoring department in samples of Khaki uniforms made by the boys. There is also to be an exhibition of tools, made at the shop, of plants grown by the school boys, and also of the seeds of Hawaiian products. Then there is to be an illustration of the school's aim and scope by means of seventy photographs which are to show the cottage built by the boys, also a dory and a wagon, and other articles fashioned by the students. The essay was closed with the statement:

"Kamehameha should be proud of her exhibit."

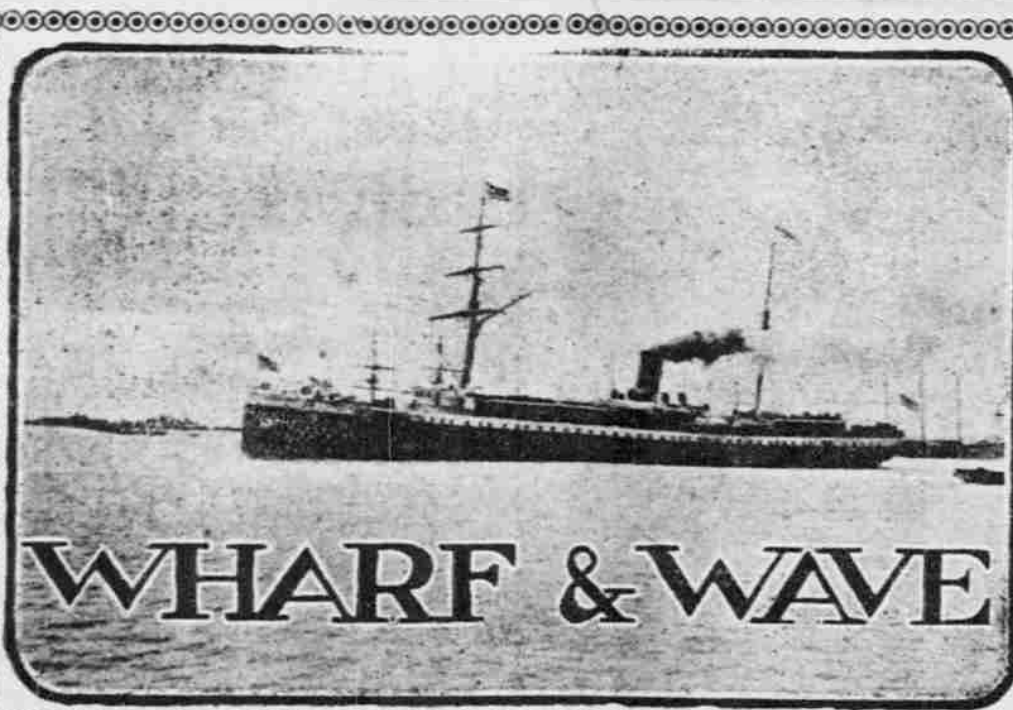

There were also a number of other interesting essays and well rendered songs, the latter by the Boy's Glee Club. The graduates are:

Thomas Mahi Kelli, Akaka Akana, James Apao, Alfred Kalaniana'ole Akana, John Rollin Desha, Stephen Langhorne Desha, Edward Julius Hardee, David Ohia Konahele, Robert Plunkett, John Robert Kekuewa.

The stage was prettily decorated for the occasion, a large Hawaiian and American flag crossed at the rear of the stage setting off the gray uniforms of the boy graduates. The presentation of diplomas was made by Hon. W. F. Allen, president of the Board of Trustees, and the address to the students was by Rev. S. L. Desha of Hilo. The following program was carried out:

MOANA TARRIES BUT SIX HOURS

The Moana arrived just at noon yesterday from the Colonies, a day ahead of time, and left again at six o'clock, making a stay of but six hours in port. She carried away quite a number of Honolulu people, many of whom had intended sailing on the Korea, but were afraid of the smallpox.

The Moana carries quite a number of steerage and second class passengers, some of whom are leaving Australia because of lack of work due to the strikes which have fortunately now been settled.

Among the passengers is a party of thirty-three Zionists, and they kept the ship awake with prayers and songs during the entire trip. They are en route to Zion City.

E. Baden-Powell, a brother of the hero of Mafeking, is a passenger. He is accompanied by his wife.

Other prominent passengers are James Murray, a member of the Fiji Parliament; Justus Scharf, a Sydney merchant; James McKerron, formerly surveyor-general for New Zealand, and J. H. Heaton, the son of the Heaton who introduced the Penny Postal system in England. He is on his way back to Great Britain.

Island Steamers Leave

Yesterday was island steamer day, and all of the inter-island boats had good sized passenger lists. The Kinau carried away Mrs. Col. French, Major Harris and other Salvation Army officers who are going to inaugurate a campaign on Hawaii.

Quite a number of attorneys took passage on the Kinau and the Claudine for Lahaina. They go to attend Judge Kalua's court which opens today.

Professor Curtis J. Lyons was also a passenger on the Kinau.

DR. CLUNESS' SIDE OF THE KOREA SMALLPOX INCIDENT

Alarmist reports from passengers on the Korea did injustice to Dr. Cluness who attended the Horst child during her illness. Dr. Cluness is one of the best known and most respected of coast physicians and is medical director of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Co., of California. A venerable and kindly man his face is a passport to confidence and his story of the illness of the Horst child is accepted without question.

The specific statements of Dr. Cluness are that the little one was not ill before leaving Yokohama, nor when going on board. This disposes of the story that the case was reported as measles. Sickness did not develop until the Korea was three days from port and then it took the form of colic. The third day before arrival here a rash appeared which could not be diagnosed. Dr. Cluness and the ship's physician thought it might be what is called "Manila rash." On the second day from port smallpox was apprehended and suspicions had been confirmed when the quarantine doctors came aboard and pronounced the case smallpox and ordered the child and its parents into quarantine.

Dr. Cluness denies that he was ever called from table, cards or smoking room to attend the Horst child; and says that the case of its sister, who was sick in Yokohama, had been diagnosed as chicken pox.

Dr. Cluness will return in the Korea occupying the cabin vacated by the Horsts.

FORTUNE IN STREET FIGHT

Story of Trouble With Police in Manila.

Special Commissioner Had Been Drinking They Say.

Called Down by Police and Then Got Other Colored Friends to Assist Him.

Just because T. Thomas Fortune was involved in a little street brawl, President Roosevelt's special commissioner to study the labor situation in Hawaii and the Philippines was deported from Manila. Fortune, according to the story told in the Manila Times, while under the influence of liquor, became demonstrative upon one of the streets in that city, and when called down by the police summoned other colored gentlemen to his assistance. The Times says that it was necessary for the officer to use his club before Fortune and his negro friends could be locked up. After his arrest Fortune filed a complaint with Governor Taft against the police.

In a later issue the Manila Times tells of the settlement of the difficulty as follows:

"It is very probable that all proceedings arising from the dispute between T. Thomas Fortune, special labor commissioner of the War Department, and the Police Department of Manila, will be withdrawn. Mr. Fortune preferred charges against the policeman who took himself and his friends into custody and the Municipal Board spent a couple of days in the investigation of them. It is felt in official circles that the trouble arose from a misunderstanding and now that explanations have been made little more remains to be done."

"Mr. Fortune denies the version of the trouble that has been made public. He indignantly says that neither he nor any of his companions were intoxicated. He states that when the policeman told him and his friends to get off the sidewalk he promptly obeyed and after that there was a rather heated discussion between one of the party and the patrolman. The policeman arrested the man and Mr. Fortune and "Captain" Wood, his secretary, accompanied him to the station for the purpose of bailing him out. Mr. Fortune says the sergeant evidently thought he, Fortune, was under arrest, and that his misunderstanding led to the fight that followed. He says he has a proper respect for the law and its officers, that he is anxious to obey every proper request made of him and that he regrets exceedingly that there was any trouble."

"The police court proceedings and the charges against the policeman have been continued, and will probably be dropped."

A later issue contains the following: "Figuratively speaking Mr. T. Thomas Fortune, the negro author of New York who came to the Philippines to study labor conditions as a special commissioner of the War Department under appointment by President Roosevelt, has folded his tent and quietly slipped away. Since his trouble with the police one night last week, his arrest with several companions and the settlement of his case out of court, high officials in the Insular Government indicated to Fortune that his mission here should end with the episode. Fortune took the hint and when the Rosetta Maru sailed for Hongkong on its last trip, Fortune and his secretary were among the passengers."
